Security as a Service

F-Secure

FOCUS ON YOUR CORE EXPERTISE

As a decision maker, you constantly look for ways to improve your business competitiveness and to ensure business continuity. By focusing on your core business and leaving the support of tools and services to professionals, you have more time and resources for your commercial priorities.

Office cleaning as a service, renting premises instead of owning them, using the Internet as a monthly subscription; these might all sound like natural choices for you, as those are probably not at the heart of your business.

Software and security as a service (SaaS) continues this trajectory.

WHY SECURITY AS A SERVICE?

Security as a Service (SaaS) makes good business sense. In the SaaS model, an organization outsources its IT security, purchasing a subscription for security software rather than buying the technology on an annual license basis. SaaS offers flexible license management. It is easy to move licenses from one PC to another - so the PCs are always protected by the latest version of the software.
